The New York Times: 'The Onion' Is A 'Satire'

In a groundbreaking investigative report, The New York Times revealed that The Onion, a popular satirical news outlet, is in fact a "satire." The shocking revelation left readers everywhere questioning the legitimacy of headlines such as "Man Wishes Women In His Life Would Communicate Directly Rather Than Dropping Hints Through Ominous Texts, Calls, Emails Every Second Of Every Day." In response to the news, one bewildered reader commented, "I always thought The Onion was a serious news source – turns out I've been laughing at fake news all along!"
